 Santa
 Barbara
 County
 California

A sepia-toned photograph of a traditional Chinese building, possibly a residence or a small shop, characterized by its dark, textured walls and a prominent tiled roof. The building is heavily overgrown with ivy and vines, particularly on the left side and around the windows. A large, leafy tree stands to the left of the building, partially obscuring it. The roof is made of dark, curved tiles, and a chimney is visible on the right side. The overall scene is one of a well-preserved but somewhat neglected historical structure.
